Re- Docket No. 984 124

Gentlemen:

I have been following the controversy concerning Daytime Running Lights and I would like to take this opportunity to let you that I am against them.

I have yet to see any credible evidence that they work and I also find it extremely distracting and annoying to have these bright lights in my rearview mirror or on a car passing by me. It also seems more like a "marketing" ploy by GM and other companies rather than a true safety feature.

Finally, if I want to drive with my lights on, it should be my decision- not anyone else's

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Peter C. Sessler
